ABSTRACT

This paper discussed the concept of transparency and accountability on a school context. In addition, it explained the importance of transparency board in promoting transparency and accountability practices in the school system. Content analysis method was utilized in this study for gathering of data using citations and literatures from the Internet, speeches, and books. The study concluded that if the schools want to improve the quality of education, then posting of liquidation report in the transparency board is necessary. This will also attract investors, philanthropists, and other stakeholders to extend services to the school.
